This new WEA course for Henley Branch will focus on British Prime Ministers between 1957 and 2015, examining more closely the leadership of some in order to appreciate the contexts in which they governed.

What did these Prime Ministers inherit? What shaped their time in office? What limited their actions? What is their legacy?

We will draw on our own memories of key events and personalities.

Philip recently retired from Head of the school of Politics and International Relations at the University of Reading where he had taught (amongst other things) British politics, for nearly 40 years. He has written about the Ombudsman system and various topics relating to Parliament. He is originally from Gloucestershire but has lived in Reading since 1972.
